DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Balamuth et al (3,809,911). Balamuth shows an ultrasonic dental insert comprising a transducer, a tip 66, a connecting body 75 disposed between and attached to the transducer and the tip, a retaining ring 81 snapped onto the connecting body, and a hand grip 52 fitted at least partially over the connecting body and retaining ring. As to claim 11, note the O-ring 110 located in a groove 109 in the connecting body.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Balamuth et al (3,809,977) in view of Carmona et al (3,654,502). Balamuth discloses that the transducer comprises crystals. Carmona shows an ultrasonic tool wherein the transducer comprises a stack of nickel plates 22p. Nickel plates have a high resistivity that provides enhanced efficiency. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to replace the crystals of Balamuth with a stack of nickel plates, in view of Carmona, in order to increase efficiency of the tool.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 2, 3, 14-23, 25 and 26 are allowed.

Claims 4, 6-10, 13 and 24 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed September 6, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant asserts that O-rings are not structural parts because they are typically used for sealing. However, it is the Examiner's position that due to the friction created between the o-ring and the handgrip, the o-ring would inherently act, so some extent, to retain the handgrip on the connecting body, thereby meeting the claimed limitation of a "retaining ring". Applicant also argues that O-rings do not have holes. Considering that they are in the shape of an O, O-rings inherently have a hole through the center, or they would be called discs.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
